Dual Distribution Source - Automatic Transfer Switch Electric

4. The charges contained in this tariff sheet are based upon the Company's standard ATS, a 600 amp (source side) switch. Should a different ATS be requested by the customer, or special conditions require the Company to install other than standard equipment and/or use non-standard installation methods, the customer shall pay the cost difference of the actual installation vs. a standard installation as an up-front special facilities payment as defined by the Company's Extension Rules and applicable additional maintenance fees. The customer shall not be liable for the additional costs of a non-standard switch if installed for company convenience purposes.
5. The Company reserves the right to disable the ATS to perform maintenance on the ATS or the distribution system. The Company will attempt to minimize the number of hours and occurrences of disabling the switch. The Company may have the ability to perform additional switching to maintain the two feeds. In these situations, the customer may be offered the opportunity to pay the Company's costs to provide the additional switching on a time and material basis.
6. The ATS is intended to provide an increase in distribution reliability. The Company reserves the right to disable the ATS during generation system emergency situations such as rolling black outs.
7. For customers who choose the Option 1 payment plan, the Company will repair and replace the switch as required for a twenty year period. After the switch has been installed for a period of twenty years, the Company will continue to perform maintenance on the switch, however should a new switch be required, the customer would be required to pay the costs of a new switch as an up-front special facilities payment or take service under option 2 and pay the applicable monthly fees. The Company reserves the right to determine if a new switch is required.
8. A portion of the monthly fee will be waived in instances where the ATS is not operational due to malfunction of the switch for a period in excess of two weeks at one time. The monthly charge shall be prorated to reflect the time in excess of two weeks that the ATS is not operational and charges are not applicable.
